CHINA REFUSES TO WAR ON GERMANY

ONE GERMAN DESTROYER BADLY HURT

(By Associated Press)

Amsterdam, via London, May 11.—One German torpedo boat destroyer was badly damaged yesterday in the battle which occurred between German and British torpedo boat destroyers, according to a correspondent of the Telegraaf. The correspondent said that the ships engaged in battle north of Tindia lightship, and that the German vessels passed North Hinda at great speed. One of the vessels was seen to be badly damaged by shell fire, he added.

13 AUSTRIAN SUBMARINES DESTROYED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 11.—Advises to the Italian embassy state that thirteen Austrian submarines have been sunk in the Adriatic by Italian patrol boats during the last few weeks.

The statement says that for the first time in a year Italian destroyers entered the port of Brindisi, sinking four transports containing provisions and ammunition. The destroyers returned unscathed.

Washington, May 11.—The members of the British war mission have left Washington for a three-days welcome and reception in New York city where they will join the French mission.

Mob Which Gathered Around House of Parliament Finally Dispersed By Sol- diers

(By Associated Press)

Peking, China, May 11.—After a riotous session which lasted throughout the night the house of representatives refused to pass a resolution declaring war on Germany. The houses of parliament were surrounded by a mob which demanded war, making threats against members who refused to vote for the resolution. On the order of the Premier the mob was dispersed by soldiers.

LANSING DENIES ANY AGREEMENT

Whereby United States Cannot Make a Sepa- rate Peace With Ger- many.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 11.—Secretary Lansing denied today that the United States had entered into any agreement with the allies not to make a separate peace with Germany. Without indicating that there was any probability of the United States acting with intention of forming a separate peace with Germany, he said that the question had never been raised at any of the conferences.

NEW OFFENSIVE ON ENTIRE FRONT IN MACEDONIA

(By Associated Press)

Along the entire front in Macedonia the Allied forces are operating in a new offensive and while the campaign is in its initial stages it is at present impossible to indicate where the great advance will be attempted. Hard battles are taking place at the bend of the Cerna and near the Vardar and military critics agree that the great drive will have to be made in one of these fertile valleys to be effective.

The comparative lull in the fighting on the French front has again directed the attention to the political situation in Europe. News from Russia is increasingly gloomy and it is now a question if the Provisional government is strong enough to weather the storm precipitated by the Radical Socialists and "visionaries."

An Austrian commission is reported to be on its way to Switzerland with the object of opening negotiations with France for a separate peace but the absence of reliable news from this country renders judgment of conditions impossible.

The tide of reform is growing rapidly in Germany and it seems certain now that the government cannot long resist the demands of the people for a more liberal form of government.

French Take Trenches.
Paris, May 11.—French troops have captured strong German positions in the region of Chevreaux in the fighting of yesterday, according to the official statement issued by the war office today.

Long Battle-Line in Macedonia.
London, May 11.—Furious assaults along the entire front of the Bulgarian-German line in Macedonia by the allied troops were made yesterday, the war office officially announced today. Dispatches from the Bulgarian office say that all of the attacks of the allies on Thursday were repulsed.

ROOSEVELT'S PLAN STILL AN ISSUE

Will Be Likely to Be Renewed in Both House and Senate—Draft to Come Within Fortnight After Signing Bill

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 11.—Although it is generally believed that congress will promptly approve the conference committee's recommendation of the war army selective draft bill the Roosevelt division issue will likely be renewed in both the house and senate. Within a fortnight after the signing of the bill by the President, the war department will place in operation the machinery which will complete the registration of the men who are eligible for service under the workings of the bill.

FORTY MEN ACCEPTED FOR ENGINEER CORPS

(By Associated Press)

Doston, May 11.—The recruiting of the Fourth regiment of engineers for early service in France began today and during the first four hours 40 men were accepted.

Lieut. L. E. Atkins, designated as adjutant, said the men would not be called into camp until 300 had been enrolled. Active recruiting will go on until the full quota is raised.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES

Once again we have the privilege of offering our patrons one of the longest and most pretentious programs that is possible to offer.

There is no theatre in Boston, or any other New England city that has a program the equal of the one we have for Friday and Saturday.

Mollie King, supported by Leon Barry appear in the first episode of "Mystery of the Double Cross." It was produced by the Pathé company and from the reports of those who have seen some of the chapters, this serial is the best ever.

Dorothy Dalton supported by Charles Rayco—star in the Triangle Ince production, "Back of the Man."

It is the story of a youth of brilliant prospects who lets ambition lead his heart astray from the one woman able to guide him in the heights of life.

On the whole, it is one of the strongest stories of business life presented on the Triangle program for some time.

Mrs. Vernon Castle and Milton Sills appear in the final chapter of "Patria," entitled "For the Flag."

The battle scenes in this chapter are unequalled in the "Birth of a Nation." There is a night attack on Patria's trenches. Huroki resorts to liquid fire. The great caterpillar "tank" plows its way through Huroki's force, and shows America engaged in modern warfare.

Bluebird presents Violet Mersereau in "The Boy Girl," a romantic story of a tom-boy.

SPECIAL MEETINGS AT THE SALVATION ARMY

On Saturday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a story illustrated by stereopticon pictures, entitled, "Jesse's Mother," at the Salvation Army hall on State street. There is no charge for admission to this service and all are welcome.

Mother's Day will be appropriately celebrated on Sunday with a special praise service in the afternoon at 3.15. The Rev. L. H. Thayer, D. D., of the North Church will give a short address at this service. The hall will be decorated with flowers and every mother on entering the hall will be presented with a white carnation.

MUST BUILD WOODEN SHIPS IN NEW ENGLAND

When parties interested in our proposed new ship building company talked with the officials regarding this locality, the president of the commission said: "Suppose we find a site for you in the south?"

"Nothing doing," replied the Portsmouth man. "If you want to build ships you must come to New England. We have the only shipwrights in America, you know."

The information imparted by the gentleman from Portsmouth was a hard blow to the man from the south.

BICYCLE RIDERS ARRESTED

The young men, girls, old men and middle aged men who have been riding on the sidewalks for months were given a jar this noon. Police Officer Shannon took a position on Miller avenue at 12 o'clock and in fifteen minutes he had eleven in his trap. The first few were ordered to report at police headquarters. The children were warned that a second offense would mean a trial. The police have been instructed to arrest all adults.

One violator of this law was fined $10 and costs by the court. An effort will be made to positively stop this dangerous practice.

FIGHT IN HOUSE EXPECTED ON WAR REVENUE MEASURE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 10.—The $1,800,000,000 war tax assessment bill, reported to the House on Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, is expected to cause great opposition to many of the features before its final passage by the House, but Democratic leader Kitchin believes that it will be passed without change. Kitchin opened the action in a four-hour speech in which he said that while many of the items in the bill looked unjust and unnecessary when considered separately, they would have to be accepted by remembering that the government needs the money.

With the introduction of the bill one of the bitterest inter-sectional fights in the history of the House is forecasted. It is the largest single tax measure ever presented to a legislative body in the history of the world and Democrats and Republicans are ready to fight it to the bitter end.

terly and to fulfill.

Representative Kitchin made a plea in presenting the measure for "all Americans to do their bit to finance the war."

"This bill must pass so our children's children will not have to pay for the war of this generation. This must be a pay-as-we-go war," Kitchin said.

"Northern men, Democrats and Republicans, claim that the Southern members of the House have burdened the country north of the Mason and Dixon line with war taxes but have let the south off lightly. They attack particularly what they call the sectional system of taxation pursued in the bill.

"They will stand by this bill," he said.

That the fight will be bitter is shown by the statement of Minority Leader Mann who said that the bill Kitchin tried to limit the debate. Kitchin could not be debated in two days when Kitchin believes that the vote can be taken on Saturday.

DECLARES FRANCE WILL FIGHT UNTIL ALSACE AND LORRAINE ARE RESTORED TO FRANCE

(By Associated Press)

New York, May 10.—Three distinct events in connection with the entertainment of the members of the French mission in this city which will go down as historic occurred today. In chronological order they are the address of Rene Viviani, Vice Chairman of the French ministry, and head of the war mission of France in this country, when he declared at a dinner at the Merchant's Exchange that "France would never cease fighting until Alsace and Lorraine were restored to France" and the Stars and Stripes would never attain their full significance in the war until they were flying over the trenches in France.

SALTS OF GOLD BEING TESTED FOR A CURE

(By Associated Press)

Cincinnati, O., May 10.—Salts of gold are being tested as a possible curative agent for tuberculosis, according to Dr. Lytle M. De Witt, of the University of Chicago. In an address before the Pathological Section of the annual meeting of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, Dr. De Witt said today that he did not find the results conclusive.

In a series of experiments tried by her on guinea pigs infected with tuberculosis she reported, she found that not only were the pigs not cured but that those given the treatment died earlier than those not so treated. She said that it is inadvisable, therefore, to try this treatment on human patients until some modification of the treatment is discovered that will do away with its dangerous features.

REPRESENTATION IN REICHSTAG TO BE ON NEW BASIS

Copenhagen, May 10.—A dispatch from Berlin says that the German government has indicated its intention to submit to a redistricting of the Reichstag districts which will give a fairer representation of the population in the German parliament. The membership of the body now is based on population and land ownership. The new basis will probably be based entirely on population.

The Herald news source is up to date and the same is used by all the big papers of the country.

ESTIMATED YIELD OF WAR REVENUE TAX SCHEDULES

Virgin Islands internal revenue, $20,000,000.

KITCHIN HEARD HOWL IN HIS COMMITTEE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 10.—At the opening of debate in the House today on the war tax bill, Chairman Kitchin of the ways and means committee predicted that the war expenditures for this year and the next fiscal year would reach $5,000,000,000 rather than the $3,800,000,000 his committee had estimated. "Those who staid at home in war time," he said, should be glad to pay the bills. Demands of war necessitated prompt and decisive action, he declared, and patriotism called for passage of a measure which in peaceful and normal times would never receive his vote.

"Men whose boys are conscripted for the army," he said, "have a right to expect that the money of the nation will be conscripted to support that at-

my. If I were not ready to fight, I would be willing to tax every dollar in my pocket. They say that this bill, by raising half out of the wealthy, is going to raise a howl throughout the country. We have heard that howl in our committee. I believe that the business men, the manufacturers, and the wealthy class are patriotic and are going to stand by this bill. Everybody should know that. I have heard more protests, complaints and kicks from every tax in this bill than any other tariff I have helped to write. There is not an item in it that has not been protested by the men who have got to pay something."

Mr. Kitchin explained the bill in detail and the necessity for the various taxes.

BELIEVES HIGH WHEAT PRICES UNNECESSARY

MR. HOOVER LABELS MEN MANIPULATING PRICES AS "SKUNKS" AND SAYS PRICES CAN BE LOWER

(By Associated Press)

New York, May 10.—Herbert C. Hoover, who lately arrived in this country from London after studying the food situation in the countries of the allies admitted today in a statement that unless the government took control of the food situation the price of flour would likely reach $20.00 a barrel, while with a commission in control of the foodstuffs "the present price might be reduced forty to fifty per cent and permit of a liberal profit" to the producer and all classes of the trade. Dispatches from Washington indicate that Mr. Hoover may be appointed Food Director for the United States and the Allies.

Mr. Hoover in his statements says that there is no need for the present high price of flour and that "there are enough big men in the business, the greater majority, representing all classes handling the food supply to force the small minority of skunks to sell flour, especially flour, at a fair rate." He said that it was possible with $1.50 wheat to sell flour "at $3.00 a barrel which would give the producer and all classes of the trade a fair profit."

Washington, May 11.—The suggestion that Herbert C. Hoover be made head of the American Food Commission was made today by the administration officials when the administration's food distribution and control bill is passed, a conference between the administration, the Secretary of Agriculture, Chairman Lever of the House committee on agriculture and Representative Hagen of Iowa, a Republican member of the committee was held to discuss the administration's bill which empowers the President to act in a drastic manner in dealing with the food situation.

It is planned to appoint one man as head of the commission created by the bill and he will appoint his assistants, some to act without compensation, to work with him in carrying out the details of distribution centers and other details to place food to the best advantage and lowest possible prices for the American people.

U-BOAT REPORTED BY BRITISH SHIP OFF NEW ENGLAND

OFFICERS DRIVE SHIP INTO ROCK LAND TO ESCAPE ATTACK FROM SUBMARINE OFF CAPE ANN, IS THEIR REPORT.

(By Associated Press)

Rockland, Me., May 10.—Unconfirmed report of a German submarine operating off the Coast of New England were current here this evening when a British merchant ship hurriedly made this port. The steamer ran in here, according to the officers, to escape an attack from a submarine sighted off Cape Ann. Members of the crew who could be approached refused to comment themselves as to the sighting of a submarine, merely saying that "something unusual had happened."

Thoroughly Sound Advice.

Nothing is cheaper than advice—telling people how to do things, and for this reason the columns of the papers are flooded with the outgivings of those who feel that their business in the world is to direct while others do the work. One consequence is a lot of advice that is not worth the paper it is printed on, and the less it is heeded the better it is for all concerned.

But in the vast volume there occasionally appear words from persons who know what they are talking about, and it is well to pay attention to the savings of these men and women. They present practical ideas and those who adopt them are sure to be advantaged thereby. Some absolutely true and very sensible words were recently spoken by Frank A. Vandierip, president of the National City Bank of New York. They are these:

"I tell you if you are to secure one of the largest prizes of success you must make up your mind to adopt the theory of the double day's work, and when the regular day's work is finished you must be prepared systematically to devote some considerable portion of time to study, toward gaining a broad and intelligent view in all its large aspects of the work with which you are engaged, toward making additions to your stock of general knowledge, to the undertaking of problems of the day, to your duties as part of the social organization."

These words should be pondered by every young man who is determined to make the most of himself and his opportunities. The suggestion of "the double day's work" is not to be taken literally. No man, young or old, ever gained anything by trying to do two days' work in one and keeping it up. One day's work at a time is enough, but with working hours as they are at present the day's work may well include some effort along the line pointed out by this New York financier.

Something in the way of diversion and amusement is necessary as a relief from the strain of work or business, but the average young man will, if he tries, find time, aside from both work and play, to improve his mind and increase his knowledge of the business in which he is interested. Such improvement is sure to lead to larger opportunities and larger accomplishment. At the present time the tendency is to give too much time to mere amusements. For some amusement there is room and need, but it should be remembered that the earnest man and woman are not in the world simply to be amused, and those who bear this in mind are sure to come out best in the long run.

According to a missionary recently returned from Mexico liquor selling and bull fighting have been prohibited in that country since Carranza assumed the presidency. He speaks well of President Carranza and says he is doing much in the interest of democracy. If bull fighting and the liquor traffic are really ruled out one big forward step has been taken and the future development of a republic so long agitated and torn by strife will be watched with interest by the whole world.

Word comes from London that women food experts are conducting a campaign to call "wild foods" to the attention of the people. They assert that there is much good eating to be found in the wilds, and among these, according to the report, are birds and their eggs. It is sincerely to be hoped that the food situation in England is not so serious as to lead to the robbing of birds' nests.

Whether the partial derailment of the train on which the French mission to the United States was traveling in Illinois the other day was accidental or not, it is exceedingly fortunate that the results were no worse. And the government and railroad company may be trusted to know whether the happening was accidental or not before they get through with it.

Complain is heard in Washington that President Wilson does not take Congress into his confidence as fully as some of the members think he should. But there have been many occasions when he has taken that body into his confidence to such an extent that there was complaint that he was attempting to "run it."

Ex-President Taft and other prominent alumni of Yale are urging that the reunions of graduates this year be made "dry" with the view of influencing public opinion in favor of prohibition during the war. If all of the colleges of the country should do this it would help some.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is hale and hearty at 81. He has had a long and conspicuous career, and apparently there are years of usefulness still ahead of him. His name will long live in government circles at Washington.

Women and Food Waste

(From the Indianapolis News)
The United States Government is appealing to the housewife for assistance in the waging of the great war no less earnestly than it is appealing to the men of the nation. It asks their cooperation, not only in behalf of the Red Cross, and all the departments of work where woman's special skill, training, experience and handwork are essential, but it particularly seeks their assistance in preventing waste. The raising of food, it points out, is man's business, but the saving of food is woman's business. Each woman, it suggests, should consider herself a committee of one to put an end immediately to waste of every description.

A single slice of bread, say the experts of the Department of Agriculture, seems an unimportant thing. In many households one or more slices of bread are thrown away daily, and not used for human food. It continues:

If every one of the country's 20,000,000 homes wastes on the average of only one such slice of bread a day, the country is throwing away daily over 14,000,000 ounces of flour—over 875,000 pounds, of enough flour for over 1,000,000 one-pound loaves a day. For a full year at this rate, there would be a waste of over 319,000,000 pounds of flour—1,500,000 barrels of flour—enough to make 365,000,000 loaves. As it takes four and one-half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of ordinary flour, this waste would represent the flour from over 7,000,000 bushels of wheat. Fourteen and nine-tenths bushels of wheat on the average are raised on an acre. It would take the fruit of some 470,000 acres, just to provide a single slice of bread to be wasted daily in every home.

The significance that lies on the face of the statement speaks for itself, but there is something equally significant to be read between the lines. Does any one suppose, for instance, that the machinery of the Government would be set to work to produce such statistics if the need were not grave and pressing and immediate? The wise reader will discern in the brief bulletin some of the anxiety over the food situation felt in the higher circles of government. The housewife should see in it an urgent call for her personal, individual cooperation in the business of saving. Her assistance is needed.

A Citizen of All Free Peoples

(From the Chicago Evening Post)
We little realized three years ago when we watched with sympathetic interest the great retreat from Belgium to the Marne how much it meant to us and to the world.

France we loved and Paris we cherished in our hearts, and the danger that threatened them quickened our sentiment and thrilled our souls.

When at the Marne the tide turned we rejoiced, somewhat primly, it is true, because our neutrality rested up on us uncomfortably and suppressed the emotions to which we longed to give louder voice.

Paris was saved. The salvation of France had begun. These were the thoughts that stirred us.

Now we look back from a higher vantage point. We see those great events in their broader bearings. We know that what then seemed the saving of Paris, the beginning of redemption for France, was in reality the salvation of the world.

And in the perspective of the longer vision there stands out against the background of days of defeat (turned to victory), the aqua-shouldered, kindly, imperturbable figure of Chicago's guest of today—Joffre of France.

To this man and to the gallant soldiers who bravely did his bidding we owe a debt immeasurable.

If there be hope today of triumph for democracy, it rests upon the work accomplished by this modest son of our beloved ally.

We can cheer him and his country now without sense of restraint. We can cheer with an honest gratitude that will attempt to pay its debt in treasure, in service and in blood. We can wave together Old Glory and the Tricolor, because they are even now fighting together where a stubborn foe doggedly retreats before them.

Joffre, citizen of France, belongs to us and to all the world's free peoples. No man in person or in achievement better typifies the cause for which we fight.

Vive to Joffre. Vive la France.

Wearing Down Norway

(From the New York World)
Of all the neutrals, Norway has been by far the greatest sufferer from Germany's submarine warfare. In April seventy-five Norwegian vessels were sunk by German raiders and over one hundred sailors lost their lives. In March, sixty-four Norwegian vessels were sunk, and in February forty-one; for the two months 132 persons were reported killed or missing. Up to April 1, according to the figures published by the State Department at Washington, of a total of 636 neutral ships sunk by German submarines 410 were Norwegian.

At the beginning of the war Norway's merchant navy ranked fourth among those of the nations of the world, out-classing France's. In the last three years, German submarines have destroyed more Norwegian than French ships of commerce. Between the nation at peace with Germany and the nation ranged against it in war, the neutral has borne the heavier losses from raiders' attacks.

Small wonder that Norway regards the situation as intolerable and that relations with Germany are near the breaking point.

Eat Corn

(From the New York World)
Most of the people of the world had enough to eat before wheat came into universal use. The price of $3 a bushel at Chicago, based on the unfavorable Government crop report, ought not, therefore, to create a panic.

Congress Still Wasting Time

(From the Brooklyn Standard-Union)
Congress declared war on Germany a month ago, and is still dilly-dallying over the passage of the bill localizing an army. Delay has been promoted and assured by lining up one set of statesmen in favor of choosing the army from men under thirty years of age, against another set of statesmen who think they should be chosen up to forty years of age.

While they comfortably argue, no progress is made toward choosing any men at all.

Nobody can think of any conceivable motive for haggling over this point, consistent with a patriotic desire to make our word in declaring war respected among other nations. Of course all those people resident here who hope our nation never will do anything effective to carry out the declaration of war against Germany are highly pleased at the delay. No doubt it also affords amusement in Germany to observe the Congress of the United States devoting attention to a war news censorship bill before it has taken any effective steps to make it possible to have war news.

There is certainly nothing to censor so far. But can it not be possible to impress Congress with the idea that the country feels humiliated at the enforced wait in the raising of troops? Besides, while humiliation exists, disaster is also possible. A month has been lost. An army ready a month after it is needed would be of little help to this country in the case of serious developments.

Thorns On the Rose

(From the Textile World Journal)
The agricultural movement which has spread over the country is seriously hindering the production of textile mills, since employees are staying out as many as three days a week to work in their gardens.

A Call to the Norsemen

(From the Halifax Chronicle)
The Scandinavian kingdoms might just as well make way at once. It would be no more costly than their present state of "peace" with Germany in which they are being starved and ruined. Denmark might be invaded, but Norway and Sweden are protected by the Baltic Sea, and could defend their coasts against invasion. Moreover, all three states now have the additional assurance and guarantee afforded by the entry of the United States into the war, against the possibility of victory for Germany and of ultimate disaster for themselves. Germany is no longer to be feared except for what she can do at once; and she can do little more than she has been doing for a long time past. Right and left, with out discrimination between enemy and neutral, without consideration of law or mercy, without regard for God or man.

Can any civilized nation conscientiously or honorably stand by longer and witness such deeds, even if it is not suffering directly from them, with out striking a blow for civilization and humanity? The Scandinavians have always been a brave and high-spirited people. Their blood is that of warriors and conquerors. It is inconceivable that the old spirit of their race has entirely abandoned them, and that they have been permanently cowed by the rattling of the Prussian sabre. If not it is high time for them to arise and bestir themselves like men.

Letters from the People

Thinks It Cruelty to the Horses

Editor:
While the board of health is doing its part to check the glanders among horses, it is also inflicting cruelty on the animals by discontinuing the water service for drinking. Why not work under the same plan as in other cities where the disease is discovered among horses, by ordering owners of horses to carry individual water buckets for the animals and where the fountains are closed, put in a faucet or two so water can be obtained. Since the order was given to close the fountains, horses coming from the surrounding towns have suffered for water. Many drivers have gone to Ivory Station for water, but the stable keepers are protesting against the disease and cannot be blamed if they hesitate in allowing strange horses drinking in the stable. It would be safe for horse owners to carry buckets at all times and a law to that effect would certainly be "safety first" and help wipe out the disease among the animals.

The public is protected by the individual drinking cup, why not the individual bucket for horses.

MANUFACTURERS READY TO ASSIST SAFETY BOARD

Concord, May 11.—Readiness to do everything possible to aid the State Committee on Public Safety in the matter of increased food production was expressed yesterday at the meeting of manufacturers, called by Governor Keyes. There was some uncertainty as to the practicability of releasing large numbers of factory workers to go on the farms in the minds of some of the manufacturers, although most of these already have undertaken to finance their employees in having home gardens, as well as provide the land necessary. Other manufacturers said they could let men go out on the farms during the busy hoeing and haying periods when they will be most needed. But whatever the number of men who go on the farms to work for others, it was made certain that food production will be materially increased by the factory workers who are operating gardens this year.

Governor Keyes called the meeting to order in Representatives' hall, the attendance being so large the council chamber could not accommodate the men. The governor told the manufacturers he believed they could do much to solve the food problem and he knew their patriotism would be shown by their works. The governor was unable to remain throughout the meeting, owing to another important engagement, and he called upon President Winthrop L. Carter of the State Manufacturers' association to preside.

The principal talks were made by Chairman John B. Jameson of the State Committee on Public Safety, Chairman H. H. Spaulding of the Central Food Production committee, Commissioner Andrew L. Felker of the state department of agriculture, and E. Bertram Pike of Pike.

Mr. Jameson urged the extreme seriousness of the food situation and declared that New Hampshire's part in helping out was by no means inconsiderable.

Mr. Spaulding asked the manufacturers to take an inventory of the men in their employ who have come from the farms and ascertain how many would be willing to go back to farming. He also asked the manufacturers to make up the difference in the pay where the men are earning more in the factories than the farmers could afford to pay.

While this is asking much," said Mr. Spaulding, "these are extraordinary times and I am confident that the manufacturers will put patriotism above monetary interests."

"The practical side of farming was discussed by Commissioner Felker. If there is to be a maximum food production in New Hampshire, Mr. Felker said, the farmers must have more help. He added the best New Hampshire could hope to do was to take care of the state's own needs.

The proposal was made that it well to shorten up the week in manufacturing plants with the understanding that the men should put in the time in the gardens. E. Bertram Pike thought it might be practicable to close down Friday nights instead of Saturday noons, if the men would agree to put in the half day the owners gave them, together with the half day they usually had for recreation.

At the conclusion of the meeting, President Carter called on all present to offer suggestions. Practically all had something to say, and for the most part it was a continuous recital of what has been done in the way of encouraging the workmen to plant.

While there were some offers by manufacturers present of men for the farms, not all were certain this could be done to best advantage. All of the manufacturers agreed to give the matter careful consideration and promised to do everything they could to aid the committee on public safety in its great work.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BOYS ENLISTED AT PORTSMOUTH

The following list of names are those of the young men who have enlisted at the headquarters of the First Naval District of the United States Naval Reserve Force at Portsmouth for duty in the first district. These men are all from the state of New Hampshire, and a very large number of them are from the city of Manchester.

They were obtained through the kindness of Chief Boutswain's Mate Harry Perceval, who has been questioned to a great extent concerning where certain men went who enlisted, and in the publishing of this list it will help friends of the boys to know just what branch of the service they went into.

All other men besides those whose names are printed below, have enlisted in the regular navy, or the fleet reserve. These men are at the present stationed at Portsmouth, and many of them are on the Topeka, which has been put into commission for use as a training ship.

All reports from the boys are that they are getting along fine, although some of them have had slight attacks of indisposition, and others have not as yet recovered from the effects of the inoculation for typhoid, which was administered last Monday.

Drilling has begun in earnest and the boys are fast being taught the correct way to use the rifle and other paraphernalia which goes with it.

The names of the New Hampshire boys who have enlisted at Portsmouth are as follows: Charles S. Parsons, Edward P. Bolton, Charles L. Weaver, Charles H. Baireh, John P. Holland, Lawrence C. Gattler, Harry L. Hilton, Lawrence C. Harvey, Thomas J. Crab, Sydney I. Tucker, Newell O. Howe, John F. Dowd, Florence C. Sullivan, Daniel Ahearn, Walter R. Wilson, Giuseppe Cavaretta, James P. HOW TO HONOR AND RESPECT OLD GLORY

It is becoming the practice throughout the country, among civilians, to display the national flag on all patriotic occasions, especially on the following days:

Lincoln's Birthday.
Washington's Birthday.
Mother's Day.
Memorial Day.
Flag Day.
Independence Day.
February 12th.
February 22d.
Second Sunday in May.
May 30th.
June 14th.
July 4th.
Columbus day.

In certain localities other special days are observed in the same manner. It seems to be appropriate that where several flags or emblems are displayed on a pole, or otherwise, the United States flag should always be hoisted first and hung and displayed at the top; that in any parade the United States flag should always have the place of honor, and that the flag should never be hung or displayed with the union down, except as a signal of distress at sea.

Honors to the Flag.
Existing regulations governing the army provide that when officers and enlisted men pass the national flag, not encased, they will render honor as follows: If in civilian dress and covered, they will uncover, holding the head-dress opposite the left shoulder with the right hand; if uncovered, they will salute with the right hand salute. A flag unfurled and hung in a room in which officers or enlisted men of the army are present will be saluted by them the first time they may have occasion to pass it, but not thereafter. The hand salute is as follows:

"Raise the right hand smartly till the tip of the forefinger touches the lower part of the head-dress above the right eye, thumb and fingers extended and joined, palm to left, forearm inclined to about 45 degrees, hand and wrist straight; at the same time look toward the person saluted. Drop the arm smartly to the side."

National Air of the U. S.
No anthem, hymn or musical air has been recognized by any federal law as the national anthem, hymn or air, but army and navy regulations provide that the musical composition familiarly known as "The Star Spangled Banner" shall be designated as the national air of the United States of America. It should be stated, however, that these regulations are binding only upon the personnel of the military and naval service.

When Anthem is Sung.
Whenever the national air is played at any place where persons belonging to the military or naval service are present, all officers and enlisted men not in formation are required to stand at attention, facing towards the music, excepting when the flag is being lowered at sunset, on which occasion they are required to face towards the flag. If in civilian dress and uncovered, they are required to stand and salute at the first note of the air, retaining the position of salute until the last note of the air is played. If in civilian dress and covered, they are required to stand and uncover at the first note of the air, holding the head-dress opposite the left shoulder until the last note is played, excepting in inclement weather, when the head-dress may be held slightly raised. The custom of rising and remaining standing and uncovered while "The Star Spangled Banner" is being played is growing in favor among civilians.

The Worn-Out Flag.
Old or worn-out flags should not be used either for banners or for any secondary purpose. When a flag is in such a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside nor used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the national colors, but should be destroyed as a whole, privately, preferably by burning or by some other method lacking in any suggestion of irreverence or disrespect due the emblem representing our country.

It should be borne in mind that the views set forth in this circular are merely suggestive, and that it is not the intention of the department to gylo them out as authoritative.

ECONOMIZE

All housewives, ye must now prepare to do your duty, which is, spare What's wholesome, in the life of food. Least famine ruthlessly intrude; Curtail the portions for each meal. Of beef and mutton, pork and veal; In home-made cookies, cakes and pies Ye must, alas, economize.

The "goodies" which we like so much We may not in the future touch, A plain and very frugal meal Must now suffice, though we may feel The deprivation keenly where We've had abundance and to spare. On every hand we hear the cry, "Economize! Economize!"

'Tis trying to the household purse. But we are told it will be worse; Poor consolation now to know That higher yet shall prices go; That we shall surely see the hour When twenty dollars per for flour Will be the tune. So it is wise To study to economize.

We'll have to study real hard Against starvation how to guard; If food alarms do not err A famine we cannot deter For many months, unless we give Our whole attention how to live So sparingly that on supplies We can right now economize.

J. E. Moore.

JAPANESE EMIGRANTS FOR BRAZZIL

(By Associated Press)
Kobe, Japan, May 11.—Carrying 1,500 Japanese emigrants, besides a big shipment of Japanese merchandise of various kinds, the Waseda Maru, the first steamer of the South African line of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, sailed from Kobe today for Rio de Janeiro, by way of Cape Town.

These emigrants are part of 40,000 Japanese to be sent to Brazil to engage in agricultural work. Contracts for these emigrants have been concluded between the Brazilian government and the Japan South American Emigration association. Each of the emigrants will receive a subsidy from the Brazilian government.

CLAIMS HE WAS KIDNAPPED

(By Associated Press)
Yokohama, Japan, May 11.—After spending about fourteen months in jail, Yasuhiro Ota, a former Japanese resident of Seattle, has been found not guilty of the charge of mailing letters and of writing articles for a Japanese newspaper in Seattle injurious to the honor of the Imperial Japanese court.

Ota claims that he was kidnapped in Seattle by the then Japanese consul there who induced him to board a Japanese steamer. He declares that he was imprisoned as soon as he set foot on the ship and taken to Japan.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT FREEMASONS

London, May 11.—The Royal Anti-Aircraft League of Freemasons has been organized. Membership will be limited to members of the Anti-Aircraft service.

The Bible used in the ceremony and the warrant of the lodge were bound with boards cut from the propeller of a Zeppelin brought down in England and part of the regalia of the lodge was made in aluminum from the Zeppelins brought down at Cuffley and in Essex.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES WILL PRODUCE FOOD

(By Associated Press)
New York, May 11.—The response of the American boys to the plea by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America that "every scout feed a soldier" has been so widespread that today thousands of acres of land where flowers or no vegetation at all grew, are now under cultivation to produce food.

Reports received at the organization's national headquarters here, it was announced today show that this juvenile farming movement has attracted not only thousands of boys not heretofore associated with the Boy Scouts but has led to co-operation by a great many men, who rejected by the army or the navy, hope to render a national service in agriculture.

Supplementing messages of approval from Herbert C. Hoover, head of the nation's food board, Theodore Roosevelt and others, the national council today made public letters from Major General Leonard Wood, and Lieutenant General Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement in Great Britain.

General Wood, urging that "every effort be made to increase the food supply," wrote that "the great mass of the people can very easily produce a large proportion of the food which they will need in the ensuing year, thus making more available to send abroad to the nations involved in the present great war."

General Baden-Powell described what Boy Scouts have accomplished for England at war in the way of coast guard service, guarding bridges, telegraph and cable lines and reservoirs, and performing orderly service for the admiralty and other government branches. He expressed the confidence that American Boy Scouts are trained "to do very valuable service for their country behind the scenes in the present crisis."

An appeal by the council to the approximately 250,000 members announced recently that war service emblems would be awarded to Boy Scout district councils, troops and individual members who performed unusual service in food production.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., May 11.—When the man who has put in a new garden to help increase the state's food supply this spring finds that all of his first plants have been cut off as if a small lumberman with microscope axe had been at work on them, he may know that the cut worms did it. In fact, the cut worms are there waiting for the plants now.

Professor W. C. O'Keefe of the Dept. of Economic Entomology has issued a small emergency press bulletin to warn all new gardeners what to do to circumvent the cut worm.

The cut worm operates just below the surface of the soil and eats right through the stem. The gardener finds the plant lying on its side, completely severed or nearly so in the morning. The worms have emerged from eggs laid on the surface of the soil previous summer by night flying moths. The worms hatched last fall and have wintered in the ground. When spring arrived the ground was plowed and cultivated and they were immediately released and looked around for something to eat. The way to prevent damage to crops from cut worms is to provide the worms with something to eat other than plants.

The food most in favor is a mixture of bran, water, molasses and paris green. The paris green makes the mixture suggestive of vegetation and eventually disposes of the cut worm.

Lemons Beautify!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of alcohol makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost of one musty penny for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothening and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of alcohol white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

BOTH PARTIES HELD RALLIES AT DOVER

Local Democrats Hear Sullivan and Burroughs Talks to Republicans.

A rally was held in the interests of both Democratic and Republican candidates for congress at Dover on Thursday night which brought a large number of leading men from the surrounding towns.

The Democrats gathered in the city banquet hall and the Republicans assembled at the Union League Club.

The candidates, Sherman Burroughs and P. H. Sullivan, spoke at the respective meetings. Other Republican speakers were Ex-Gov. Charles M. Floyd and Mayor Harry Spaulding of Manchester.

The Democrats had besides the candidate, Ex-Congressman W. D. Jamieson of Iowa, of the Democratic National committee, George E. Farrand of Concord, chairman of the Democratic state committee, Judge Pagn and Mayor S. T. Ladd of this city, John B. Nash of Conway, and Mayor Fred Brown of Somersworth.

Nearly fifty Democrats from this city were present, making the trip in automobiles.

That Portsmouth may get some of the German prisoners from England if they are sent to this country.

NAVY NOTES

Marines Fight Fire

A grass fire originating in a field on the Weymouth-Hingham line imperilled the Hingham Naval Arsenal yesterday afternoon, and took the efforts of 75 marines, at work for more than an hour, to put it out. The fire spread into the arsenal grounds through the fence and was first detected by one of the mounted patrols. Lieut. Commander Wallace has requested the police of Weymouth and Hingham to stop any setting of fires near the arsenal grounds.

Slight Damage by Fire

Through a leak in a pipe while replenishing a supply of gasoline on Thursday, a small craft at the Charles-town navy yard was damaged by fire. The navy yard alarm and an alarm from the regular box outside the yard was sounded, which caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood. The men on board escaped. The fire was extinguished by the yard fire force before the arrival of the Boston fire department. The alarm brought out the marine guard and bluejacket guard. According to the police, the damage to the boat will be $200.

Many Are Waiting

Between forty and fifty women who enrolled in the naval reserve corps are said to be on the waiting list at the navy yard enrollment office. At present there is no prospect for their services, outside perhaps a few stenographers who may be called for active duty.

Try Her Out on Saturday

The patrol boat twice recently turned over to the government is expected to go on a trial trip tomorrow in charge of a naval reserve crew from the local navy yard.

Will Head Second Division

The U. S. Naval band will leave for Somersworth on Sunday where they will head the second division in the patriotic parade to take place there in the afternoon.

Want Train to Bring Them Over

The several hundred apprentices and naval reserve men at the navy yard want the Boston and Maine to run a special train to the yard each day and return at night with liberty parties.

Exeter, May 11.—Lawrence B. Hayes, secretary of the Rockingham county Y. M. C. A., is making plans for the fourth annual Rockingham county older boys' conference which is to be held in Hallowell May 19 and 20.

The group efficiency contest which has been held for the past five months by the Boy Scouts in the county has been won by the Newmarket Boy Scout troop.

Principal Lewis Perry of the Phillips Exeter academy in an address to the students stated that the only way to avoid a great crisis was to cultivate to a great extent, and he urged the boys to remain for summer work on the school farm which will be carried on this summer on the Hallowell playing field.

MAY SEND FISH TO EUROPE

War will result of necessity in the growth of America's fisheries, in the opinion of Manager William K. Beardsley of the New England Fish Exchange, who points out that our fisheries must grow to keep pace with the increased demand, which will come first from the scarcity of other foods here, and second from the demands of Europe for sea foods.

"The scarcer and higher other foods become," he says, "the more the attention of the American public will be drawn to the possibilities of our fisheries as food producing agencies. We are fortunate in that the situation of our fishing banks, being far from the active war zone, make them still available for use."

"Our problem is not only to supply a rapidly growing demand from this country during the war, but as well to provide fish for export abroad. The fisheries of many of the European equities have been practically put out of commission by the war there."

"For some years past, we have handled an average of 150,000,000 pounds of fish at the port of Boston annually, and the average annual consumption has been about a pound per capita throughout the country. Abroad on the other hand, many nations have averaged as high as fifty pounds annually per capita."

Fishing fleet has grown, its increase will have to be much greater to produce the fish necessary to meet the demands upon us. In 1913, there were 373 vessels fishing from this port. Last year there were 436. This year we will need double that number.

"We will also need more fishermen to handle the boats, but there are needs cease. At Boston we have the finest, most completely equipped pier in the world, devoted exclusively to fish. Our facilities can take care of three or four times the present catch of fish, and enable us to handle this greater volume of seafood scientifically and expeditiously. With a little co-operation on the part of the railroad, we should be able to ship fish in good condition from this pier to the inland centers of the country and thus place fish caught on Georges Banks, miles off the New England Coast, on the tables of Montana and Colorado."

"So far as its fisheries are concerned, America, because of its geographical position, is in a position superior to any other country in the world."

YOUNG PEOPLE WEDDED IN PRESENCE OF MANY FRIENDS

On Thursday evening Miss Mabelle J. Palmer, one of the most prominent young ladies in Portsmouth's Hebrew circles, was married to Herman B. Levine of Lynn, Mass., the ceremony taking place in Freeman's Hall, Rabbi Liberson of the local Temple of Israel officiating. More than 200 guests were present from this city, out-of-town guests present coming from Boston, New York, Lynn, Salem, Haverhill, Newburyport, Mass., Brooklyn, N. Y., Chicago, and Los Angeles.

The couple were attended by Julius W. Levine, brother of the groom, as best man, and Miss Ethel Dreher, of this city, a niece of the bride, as maid of honor. The hall was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers as was also the bride's home, a reception being held at both places.

The bride was attractively gowned in white satin under silver lace and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Besides her maid of honor she was attended by the Misses Ruth Goodman and Esther Dreher, two nieces, as flower girls; they being dressed in white and carrying large baskets of beautiful flowers.

Following the ceremony the newly wedded couple held a reception in the hall, another reception taking place at the home of the bride's mother, the Manning street, later in the evening. An elaborate dinner was served the guests after the reception and music was furnished for the occasion by Marden's Orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Clara Wentworth Marden. Mrs. Levine is a native of Portsmouth and is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah and the late Moses Palmer. She was educated in the public schools and was graduated from the Portsmouth High School. She has a large circle of friends which were associated with her in her social activities in the city, and all joined in wishing her the greatest amount of happiness.

Mr. Levine is a building contractor established in Lynn, Mass., and following a wedding journey spent in New York the couple will make their home in the Massachusetts city. Mrs. Levine was dressed in a grey tulle gown with georgette crepe trimming for her traveling gown.

The couple were the recipients of numerous gifts from parents, relatives and friends. Including money, furniture, cut glass, and other valuable gifts, testifying to the popularity of the young couple. The ushers were Samuel Levine, Max Palmer, Max Palmer, Louis Dreher, Morris Dreher, Julius Levine, Charles Green, Joseph Levine, Joseph Slosberg and Charles Cousc.

GERMAN SHEET HAS A FIT OVER THE HYPHENS

(By Associated Press)

Amsterdam, via London, May 10.—Bitter condemnation of German-American is the theme of an article in the Kreis-Zeitung on mobilization in the United States. The writer first seeks comfort in expressing utter disdain for the present American army, comments on the costliness of volunteer recruiting and the obstacles to conscription such as a lack of lists of men capable of bearing arms. Referring to the loyal resolutions passed at meetings of German-Americans, he says:

"German-Americans could not be gray their old mother country more shamefully, seeing that nobody will assert that the existence of the United States is endangered by Germany. The more pitiful is the cowardly zeal with which the two million German-Americans in their national associations dream their race in time of distress."

"The term German faithfulness" is hereby forever discredited. Nothing any longer binds us to these German-Americans. We only cherish one wish, that as speedily as possible, they erase the word German from the name of their organs, its use being as insulting to the German people as to themselves."

These expressions were obtained today from the two most diverse elements in Germany—the government and the Socialists.

The government's view of America's entrance into the war was given in a statement authorized by the foreign office through the United Press.

Philip Scheidemann, Socialist leader, voiced the views of the other, extremists element which has been most active in recent peace propaganda. Both defend Germany's use of the submarine as her most potent means of defensive warfare, and Scheidemann gave expression to the basis on which the peace which he has admittedly been advocating must be based.

Same Old Contentions. The foreign office does not regard the torpedoing of American ships as being in any manner.

In the danger zone prescribed by Germany as a hostile act, as all countries were warned of its existence. The government regards this submarine warfare as its most valuable weapon, and it will be continued, with the announced area it was pointed out that American ships were being attacked only in danger zone.

Scheidemann regarded President Wilson's attitude as "incomprehensible," and declared that had the President continued his efforts for an understanding between the belligerents, the war would have probably been ended long ago.

"I expect good results from the conference of Socialists at Stockholm," Scheidemann said; "but the war can be ended only upon a basis that no dishonorable terms be inflicted upon any nation."

The foreign office statement follows: "As repeatedly declared, Germany holds there is no reason for an offensive against America. Germany is torpedoing American ships, but only in the danger from 25 to 30 Ford cars in a section. As each car rumbles away from the Paris headquarters at 21 Rue Bayard and an American flag is firmly fixed on the top, zeppos does not consider this a hostile act, since all countries have been warned."

Won't Give It Up

"The submarine warfare is proving one of the best means of defence for Germany and the war will be continued within the restricted zone."

"The obligation that Americans report to the police is a just measure undertaken by Germany against a nation waiting on her. America is treating Germany in a similar fashion. Americans are otherwise unhampered in Germany."

"Regrets Conflict"

Scheidemann's statement reflected, like the foreign office declaration, German inability to understand America's position.

"I regret exceedingly the conflict between Germany and America," the Socialist leader declared. "President Wilson's attitude is incomprehensible. His indulgence toward England has been as great as his hardness toward Germany."

The German government regards the submarine warfare as a defence against England's violation of international law which it cannot withhold.

"Had President Wilson continued his efforts for an understanding between belligerents this awful murder of their peoples would probably have been ended long ago."

"There is no hatred visible among the Germans against other people."

Since Karl Liebknecht's imprisonment, Philip Scheidemann has come to the fore as one of the foremost Socialist leaders in Germany. He has been actively identified with the Socialist peace movement and was prime agitator of the Stockholm peace conference.

The German government has recently given recognition of Scheidemann's leadership of the radicals by appointing him chairman of the important constitution committee, which is charged with recommending changes in Germany's governmental system.

SENATOR FORAKER DEAD

Cincinnati, O., May 10.—Joseph Benson Foraker, former United States senator from Ohio, lawyer, orator, soldier and citizen, died at his home here today. Mr. Foraker had been in poor health since his retirement from the Senate in 1909, but it was not until two weeks ago that he was forced to his bed and his condition was not considered critical until last night.

Mr. Foraker was twice elected and likewise twice defeated in races for the governorship of Ohio, while he served two terms in the United States Senate, from 1887 to 1900. He had the honor of presenting the name of William McKinley to the Republican National Convention in 1896 and 1900.

ABOUT 80,000 OPIUM SMOKERS IN FORMOSA

Tokio, May 11.—There are about 80,000 registered opium smokers in Formosa, according to Rev. E. W. Thwing of Peking, Oriental Secretary of the International Reform Bureau. He was speaking at a meeting of Japanese and Americans in Tokio, which was discussing both opium and morphine questions in their relation to the Far East.

Mr. Thwing said when the government monopoly was started in Formosa twenty years ago there were 20,000 registered smokers and that although 50,000 have died, there are now over 80,000, indicating a gradual increase.

Speaking of morphine, he said that in the first half of 1914, nine and one-half tons of the drug were imported into Japan chiefly from England and that a great proportion found its way to China.

"During my five years in Manchuria," he said "I have seen the terrible havoc wrought by this drug. Thousands of poor people die in the large cities during the winter partly from cold, but chiefly from inability to work on account of their morphine habits. Unless strong action is taken the morphine evil will inevitably spread and render futile all our efforts to eradicate the opium evil."

The Rev. Mr. Thwing urges the appointment of a strong committee of experts to investigate, inform the public and induce the government to take action against the importation of such quantities of morphine to which he declared was a menace to the Japanese as well as a disturbing factor in the relations between Japan and China.

BEARS HEAVILY ON NEWSPAPERS

Chicago, May 11.—Many newspaper publishers are now on the way to Washington to attempt to secure favorable treatment for their business under the proposed war tax. It was announced last night by Hopewell L. Rogers, president of the American News Publishers' association. Mr. Rogers said that the publishers would cooperate with E. H. Baker, chairman of the legislative committee of the association. President Rogers made the following statement:

"It is difficult to understand the policy of the government in placing so heavy a tax on the newspaper business, which has probably been more severely affected in the last year by increased prices than any other industry. In time of war, newspapers suffer particularly, owing to the enormously increased expenses owing to the gathering of war news and the increased circulation—for increased circulation means increased expenses. Most of the newspapers of the country have been compelled to increase the subscription price of their papers as well as advertising rates and an attempt to obtain sufficient earnings to carry on their business."

"Newspapers in normal times seldom increase their advertising rates fast enough to keep up with the increased cost of increased circulation, and the last year has seen most papers facing a severe financial crisis. In spite of these facts the revenue bill proposes an increase in postal rates, which are particularly unfair as to zones, a tax of one per cent on print paper imported, and I understand, a tax on advertising receipts—any one of which would wipe out the profits of most newspapers even in normal times, and at such times, as these will tend to cause the discontinuance of many newspapers and force out of employment many men especially trained for this work and whose value in other lines is comparatively small."

tempt to obtain sufficient earnings to carry on their business."

"The newspapers fully realize the seriousness of the present situation and appreciate that they must bear their share of the burden, but the provision of this proposed bill, taken on more severe on newspapers than on any other line of business and are to this extent an injustice and indefensible."

GOOD GAIN MADE IN THE ACTION ON FIRST DAY

RUSSIANS, SERBIANS AND BRITISH BEGIN EXPECTED DRIVE AGAINST INVADERS AND TEUTON ALLIES

(By Associated Press)

The long expected general offensive in Macedonia has apparently been begun, according to official dispatches released by the war office, and the British are battling against the enemy on a wide front which extends from Lake Ohrid to Lake Dorian. To the southwest of Lake Dorian the British have captured Bulgarian trenches over a front of two miles and have placed the enemy territory to a depth of 600 yards. They have succeeded in holding their gains despite the strong attempts to dislodge them by severe counter attacks. Northwest of Monastir the Entente Allies are operating with artillery and infantry with much success.

Historic Ceria is also the scene of great activity. The Russian forces on the bend of the river, have captured several trench elements and are approaching Mogdenia, a strong position in the enemy line of defense. The Serbians have started a hard drive against the invaders of their country and have taken two points of importance as well as occupying numerous important positions formerly held by the enemy.

Germans Fight Hard to Hold Fresnoy

The Germans are keeping up their new offensive against the allied drive in the territory about Fresnoy and east of Billecourt, throwing strong counter attacks against the latter salient which are being successfully met by Field Marshal Haig's forces. Fresnoy is still apparently in the hands of the Germans since they recaptured it on Tuesday. The Canadians and South Englishers are fighting desperately in an effort to drive back the Teutonic armies and are holding vantage points gained in the attempt to retake Fresnoy.

East of Bullecourt the British have established themselves within two miles of Quenat and the Germans are striving hard to throw them back and to break their front of the Droocourt-Quenat line to prevent them moving farther forward, as this is a strong point in the defenses of Cambrai.

For the most part on the line where the French are facing the Germans there appears to be comparative calm except for artillery action.

New Move by Germany

The announcement was made in Berlin in an official statement that the placing of a German general and fifteen staff officers on a French hospital ship by the British as an act of reprisal for the sinking of other hospital ships is being equalled by the German officials in another act of reprisal. The German war department has placed three French Generals and forty-two French staff officers in towns and cities where the allies may strike at any time.

DONATION IN AID OF GARDENING

STRAWBERRY BANK GRANGE VOTES $25.00 FOR THE USE OF THE PORTSMOUTH GARDEN COMMITTEE

At the meeting of Strawberry Bank Grange, No. 231, P. of H., of this city, held at Grange Hall on Thursday the sum of $25 was voted to be donated for the furthering of the home garden idea in the city, to be spent under the direction of the Portsmouth Garden Committee. The local Grange has made several gifts of late to special objects, including a donation of $25 to the Portsmouth District Nursing Association and a later gift of $25.00 to the Portsmouth Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The meeting was largely attended and the speaker of the evening, Mr. Charles Brackett of Greenland, gave an interesting talk on home gardening, particularly on the lines of preparing land for the raising of crops and the proper kinds of crops which are suited to the various kinds of soil. An entertaining program was also presented and was followed by the serving of a supper.

SENATE STILL FIGHTING FOR COL. ROOSEVELT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 10.—The long dead lock of the Senate and House over their differences in the war army bill was broken today when the joint committee of conferees reached an agreement and compromised the several points. The age for selective conscription was placed at from 21 to 31 for male voters and the Senate amendment to authorize Col. Theodore Roosevelt to raise an army for service in France was thrown out. The members of the conference from the Senate fought desperately for the retention of this feature of their bill and it is understood that a fight will be made on the floor of the upper house to have it rewritten into the bill when it is being considered for confirmation.

The bill is expected to be confirmed within a very short time and within two weeks of the signing by President Wilson the work of registration for conscription will begin. The men drafted under this bill will be placed in training camps before September. There is every assurance that no matter what other changes are made in the bill by the two houses that age limit of 21 to 30 will be retained, and the bill is so worded that all male voters, married or single, under 31 years of age, must register for service.

There will be some exceptions to include those in the employ of the Federal government, persons engaged in work necessary to the maintenance of the country and the army, including agriculture, persons having dependants and those mentally and physically unfit for military service.

To prevent the possible attempt of registration officials in counties and towns to show favoritism, Provost Marshal General Crowder issued a statement today that it would be almost impossible to make fraudulent registration. He issued a warning that any attempts to show favor on the part of officials would be severely dealt with by the Federal government if proofs were found.

PLAN GREAT AD CAMPAIGN FOR WAR LOAN

EVERY MEANS KNOWN TO THE ADVERTISING TRADE WILL BE EMPLOYED

Washington, May 10.—The most extensive advertising campaign in history will herald the floating of the second installment of the $5,000,000,000 Liberty Loan war bond issue, beginning probably in June.

Uncle Sam's spot cash needs—and how pressing they are—will be borne home to every inhabitant of the land in graphic fashion.

Hundreds of thousands of posters will carry the appeal from metropolises to cross roads. Newspapers, street cards and bill posters will be used.

Shop windows throughout the land, from the big business house to the corner grocery, will display government posters distributed by the United States Chamber of Commerce and subsidiary bodies.

Hotels will lend their lobbies through the National Hotelmen's Association.

Artists, lithographers, printers, etymologists and advertising experts—donating their services—are laboring in the gigantic campaign.

FELKER CALLS ATTENTION TO OLD HOME WEEK

The following letter in reference to Old Home Week has been sent to the clergy in this state:

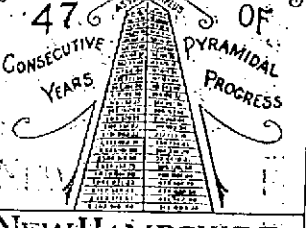

Concord, N. H., May 10, 1917.
To the Pastors of New Hampshire Churches:

Your attention is called to the annual midsummer festival, known as "Old Home Week," established through the action of the late Governor Frank W. Bollins in 1893, and since continued in this state, and extended into other states of the Union, and now generally recognized as a most potent instrumentality for strengthening the sentiments of loyalty and state pride in the hearts of all sons and daughters of the old Granite State, at home and abroad.

As the church and the home are jointly recognized as the basis of our Christian civilization, it is most proper that the church should be actively instrumental in promoting the proper observance of this great festival to the end that the spirit of love and devotion to the homes of the state be duly sustained and strengthened.

"Old Home Week" in New Hampshire opens on the third Saturday in August, as originally fixed by the State Association, and duly recognized by the Legislature of 1913, which occurs this year on the 18th, so that August 11 will be "Old Home Sunday." It is recommended, and greatly desired, by this association that services be held in the churches of the state on this day, with special reference to the occasion. This may be done by devoting the morning service in each church to this object, or by holding afternoon or evening union services, at some central church in each town or village, conveniently arranged for the occasion.

MUSN'T BANK TOO MUCH ON RUSSIA

The following editorial in the New York Tribune is worthy of the gravest consideration. It is written by one of the foremost American experts on the war.

"There is one fact about which it is possible to be sure in the Russian situation today, and that is that there is no one outside of Russia, who has the smallest inkling as to what the present crisis will mean in the future course of the war. We have no information in this country on which it is safe or wise to erect any structure of expectation. Much of benefit to the allies may come out of Russia, but it is at least equally possible that Russia will either remain quiescent or make a separate peace."

"More than four months ago, those who knew most about Russia, in France and England frankly conceded that Russia had disappeared as a factor in the war. The French statement was very simple. 'There is no more Russia.' The military decision in France, in England, where the knowledge of the Russian situation was less definite, there was some hope, but a clear recognition that it was mere hope."

"It may be that the national forces of Russia will succeed in triumphing over socialism and anarchy allied to German elements and fostered and subsidized by German agents, but this has not happened yet, despite all kinds of announcements and reports."

"Turning now to the possibilities, we may say that if Russia continues to maintain a line on the eastern front without attacking, she will occupy most of the Austrian army and many divisions of the German army, but from these German divisions in the east can be drawn valuable material and more and more the best troops can be turned toward the western front, where the battle is going forward fiercely and where the decision will come if there is to be a decision this year. If the Russians maintain their line without activity they will still play a useful role also in continuing the blockade of Germany and advancing the process of starvation."

"On the other hand if the German intrigue with the socialist and anarchist parties should succeed, Russia will make a separate peace and food supplies will be after a certain amount of delay, available for the Germans. Large numbers of German troops will be released either for industry or for service on the western front where the Austrians will be able to renew their attack of last year upon the Italians, and with German assistance, probably to expel Sarraile's army from Salonika. Any such event as this may lead to a considerable prolongation of the war and to a new sea of circumstances in which it may be necessary to envisage a separate peace between Italy and the Central Powers."

"The fact of the situation is unmistakable. The collapse of Russia at the present time is well nigh complete. Conceivably Russia will rally as the French Revolution rallied under the attack of Europe. If we see a German attack upon Russia it will be safe to conclude that the Germans have abandoned all hope of peace by negotiation with Russia. If we see a Russian attack upon Germany, we can draw the same conclusion, but until we see real fighting resumed in the east it is unwise to banish from the calculations the possibility of a separate peace between Russia and Germany."

"At the present time the war has become a struggle between Great Britain and France on the one hand and Germany on the other, with the chief allied effort being made on the western front in an offensive, and the chief German effort being made by a submarine campaign, while the German army is fighting desperately to hold some portion of its conquests as a basis for peace negotiations if the allies are brought to the point where they will be compelled to talk peace."

"All optimism regarding Russia on the part of those who are today fighting Germany is without any solid basis. The wisest thing to do is to expect the worst, because the worst is wholly possible, if not likely probable. If Russia collapses and makes a separate peace it will be necessary for the United States next year to supply a considerable number of men on the western front to support the French, whose man power will henceforth diminish regularly. It will be necessary for the United States to do a considerable part in breaking the submarine blockade and thus making the starvation of England impossible, and in furnishing steel to France and coal to Italy."

"The people of the United States should very clearly recognize the fact that the collapse of Russia will probably add another year at least to the war, and that the successful termination of the war next year will depend on the extent to which the United States is ready to send armies to Europe and to send merchant fleets through the submarine zones. In a very large measure we shall have next year to take the place of Russia and the collapse of Russia has practically insured a prolongation of the war well into next year."

"It is idle and foolish to conclude from the considerable indecisive successes of the British and of the French in their opening offensives on the western front that Germany is at the point of collapse, or that peace is likely this year. This is not true, and this is not the view at the moment of the British and the French. The most that either hope for is such progress as will indicate both to the British and to the French people that victory is not only possible but inevitable if they continue. The collapse of Russia is the most important single fact in the war situation this year and it has proven as great an advantage to Germany as can be conceived. It has placed a very real burden upon the United States, and if the United States fails to bear the burden, the decision that we all hope for—the victory of democracy over autocracy, of civilization over force—may still be indefinite and there may be left to Germany the material out of which to construct another giant upon the liberal nations of the world."

WEST POINT CLASS GRADUATES AUG. 30

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 10.—The first class at West Point will be graduated Aug. 30; the year department announced today, and immediately commissioned to supply 154 highly trained officers to aid in the instruction of the first 600,000 selective draft army to be called to the colors some time in September. Under normal conditions the cadets would have completed their course at the academy in June, 1918. The class ahead of them, which would have finished in June of this year, already has been graduated and commissioned in the regular service.

Practically all men of the two classes will become first lieutenants on their first commission; passing over the grade of second lieutenant entirely. Some of them will be troop and company commanders, with rank of captain for the duration of the war, as their first normal employment after graduation.

IT SEEMS QUITE TRUE

How many of us at various times have heard "Mother Shipton's" prophetic tales related to us. Here's one that, in eyes of latter day events, is very interesting.

In a letter to her brother in Charleston, an English lady cites the following prophecy made in the sixteenth century by the famous Mother Shipton, which pictures look alike with movements free.

When ships like fishes swim below the sea,
When men outstripping birds can some the sky,
Then half the world deep drenched in blood shall die.

FEARFUL SWEDEN WILL JOIN ALLIES

GERMANY'S PLAN TO SEND BERN STORFF, THERE RESULT OF GROWING HOSTILITY

Copenhagen, May 10.—Germany is so concerned about the recent trematons increase in pro-ally sentiment in Sweden—due to America's entry into the war—that she is probably going to send her most expert propagandist there as ambassador. He is Count von Bernstorff, formerly envoy to Washington.

This decision was persistently reported today from Berlin. It came upon the heels of other authoritative reports that Bernstorff was slated to succeed Zimmermann, its foreign secretary, in pursuance with a German governmental plan to effect reconciliation with America. That Berlin should have abandoned Zimmermann's displacement, and such a course to utilize Bernstorff in the capacity of envoy to Sweden was taken to indicate the vast importance Berlin attaches to the pro-ally sentiment crystallizing here.

There is no mistaking the development of this trend of public feeling in Sweden. It is particularly strong among the farming classes.

Hollweg Talks of Early Victory
Amsterdam, May 10 via London.—The Davaarion Staats Zeitung, a semi-official newspaper and the personal organ of Premier Count Hollweg, publishes a report of the sitting of the German federal council's committee on foreign affairs, under the presidency of Count Hollweg. It says that there was an exchange of opinions in the course of which Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg made a statement in regard to the general situation and the policy to be followed, a characteristic of which was the chancellor's complete confidence in a speedy and successful termination of the war. His statement, the newspaper says, met with the unanimous approval of the ministers of the federal cabinet.

Warns Women Against Cutting Corns and Says They Lift Right Out.

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at those painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called frez-o-gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man or a partner of an ounce of frez-o-gives, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is gummy but it dries in a moment and simply shreds up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

GRADUATING CLASS ADOPTS DRESS REFORM

The girls of the graduating class of 1917, Portsmouth High school, are to set an example in war economy, as they term it. The girls will don very simple dresses and will taboo the long white gloves and will limit their floral adornments to a single rose. The plan of dress was decided upon at a meeting this morning and the reforms announced were by unanimous vote of the class.

SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Middle street Baptist parish held its last regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the chapel, the president, Mrs. Fred S. Towle, presiding. The usual reports were read and also reports of the Woman's American Baptist Missionary convention held recently in Portland, Me. The delegates who attended from this society were Mrs. Fred S. Towle, Mrs. Samuel W. Moses, Mrs. Frank Remick, Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Ella Knight. It was also voted to hold a rummage sale in the near future.

The annual election of officers took place as follows:

President—Mrs. Burt French.
Vice President—Mrs. James K. Wilson.

Second Vice President—Mrs. Albert Plummer.
Third Vice President—Mrs. Fred S. Towle.

Secretary—Mrs. Azariah C. Willey.
Treasurer—Mrs. Lewis E. Staples.

The usual monthly supper was served at 6.15 o'clock and a large number of the parish were in attendance, this being the last supper of the year. Long tables were arranged in the audience room and the two rear rooms and every seat was occupied. During the serving selections were rendered on the victrol.

Following the serving the time was passed socially and at 7.30 o'clock a missionary program was presented by the Men's class under the direction of W. T. Lord, chairman of the devotional committee of the class and was listened to with interest by the audience.

The numbers were:
Missionary Hymns, Men's class and Chris' Guild.
"O Zion Haste."
"Jesus Shall Reign."
"From Greenland's Icy Mountains."
"The Morning Light Is Breaking."

Accompanist, Miss Nellie Patterson.

FOR SALE Vaughan Street Property

Twelve-room house with modern conveniences. This is an opportunity to secure a valuable property on an ever growing business street. A money-maker as a Rooming or Boarding House.

FRED GARDNER
Globe Building.

We are going to take care of our regular twenty-dollar suit customers just as well as we ever have; that is, we are going to show them just as many at this price and just as reliable ones as we ever have. That's "saying something" these times, too. When you get a Stein-Bloch or a Kuppenheimer make suit for this price you are getting the best suit twenty dollars will buy.

FRANK W. KNIGHT SHOE TALKS

10 Market Sq. "SHOES OF QUALITY" Portsmouth.

GRACEFUL SUEDE BOOTS

There is nothing like suede to make one's feet look small, especially when the suede comes in such a soft gray shade as in these smart, graceful shoes. Cut nine inches high with welt soles and leather Louis XV heels, slender of line and representative of a high quality of shoe craft. Unusual at $6.50 a pair.

KNIGHT'S PUMPS ARE ACHIEVEMENTS

You will at once recognize that "Knight's" pumps exemplify the variety and resourcefulness of this store. They are shown in striking grays, ivory, white and black, with such grace of modeling and charm of line as to immediately identify their distinctive origination.

IT IS A PLEASURE to use Liquid Veneer to polish furniture, as it gives such a beautiful finish with so little effort.

If you wish to have your hardwood floors easily cared for, try an O-Cedar Dusting Mop, and we think you will be gratified with the result.
